Whitehorse, the Yukon's capital, is a modern city born of the gold rush. It is situated on the main road to Alaska and is now the tourism centre in the Yukon. Every year the city celebrates Sourdough during which the residents dress up as if it were the Gold Rush period and have sled races on the frozen rivers. Whitehorse no longer has the appearance of a pioneer town, although some buildings do have a historical interest.

Your motorhome departure from Whitehorse will allow you to take the main road to Alaska, making for an unforgettable trip.
