Upington is a welcoming and friendly city at the heart of the Northern Cape on the banks of the Orange River. To discover its local history visit the Kalahari Oranje-Museum, installed in a former church. At the Must Country Restaurant you can taste the best traditional cuisine of the region. For good, local wines visit the Oranjerivier Wine Cellars.

The city and its region are home to exceptional protected natural sites like Witsand and Spitskop Nature Reserve. These reserves offer extraordinary panoramic scenery immersed with the fauna and flora of South Africa.

Augrabies National Park and its waterfalls and the Kgalagadi Transfrontier Park are characterized by exceptional wild nature and a remarkable flora that blooms at certain times of the year. Upington is an ideal starting point to travel to these parks and on towards Namibia.
